

Visions of Venice is the story of two women in search of a ghost. The ghost is that of Valeria's sister, who committed suicide, and who haunts them through the damp, gray streets of Venice. In this beautiful and compelling tale, Alison Castelli provides vivid descriptions of the sinking city, while developing a rich narrative unraveling the women's complicated friendship. Their quest to come to grips with the ghost ultimately reinvents their daily lives in a new mystical light.

Visions of Venice is Alison Castelli's second novel. Her first is Cauliflower Head (EPAP, 2011).
